

Art for the Occasional Teacher

This workshop will introduce you to the Elements and Principles of Art and Design. Understanding of the Elements and Principles of art dominates the curriculum expectations throughout K-8.

We will also explore Visual Literacy. We will examine the question: How do you look at a work of art and make sense of it? Together we will unlock the mysteries of Visual Art so you can engage your students.

This workshop will be essential for the elementary occasional teacher's tool box.

Refreshments and light dinner will be served

We All Live on Turtle Island Workshop

Infusing Aboriginal Content into Elementary Classrooms

The goal of this workshop is to teach Occasional Teachers how to infuse aboriginal content into their elementary classrooms. Key components of the workshop will emphasize present-day experiences and cultures of First Nations, Metis, and Inuit peoples as significant knowledge and perspectives for all students to obtain in schools. The workshop will cover learning opportunities for all students that will enhance critical thinking and student engagement. Participants will learn how to create a unique and memorable inclusive learning environment. Specifically, it will demonstrate how occasional teachers can use available resources quickly and easily to engage students in aboriginal education.

Presenter Velta Douglas will:

- Lead a discussion about terminology
- Introduce participants to the Deepening Knowledge website
- Provide links to resources and hands-on demonstrations of lesson plans

This workshop greatly aligns with the Simcoe Path, and specifically with SCDSB's FNMI Multi-Year Plan
